Leadership to Grow NY

A successful economy grows over time, not overnight. To truly make New York “Open for Business,” we must empower people, reinvigorate small, local businesses and encourage budding entrepreneurs. That’s what creates jobs and that’s how an economy grows.

Dan Stec’s Plan to GrowNY:

- + BizBoom: Starting your own business is difficult and due to our state’s unwieldy bureaucracy, expensive. The BizBoom start-up program cuts all application fees for new businesses by 50 percent and reduces the income tax rate through a new business’ first three years, allowing it to invest, develop and grow (A.4567).
- + GrowNY: There’s no one blueprint to help a business succeed and many can fall apart due to lack of support and investment. GrowNY is an economic gardening program that awards competitive grants and even more importantly, offers crucial access to technical assistance and services to help our entrepreneurs network and help make our upstate economy flourish (A.1567).

- + Cutting the Red Tape: If there’s one thing every New Yorker can agree on, it’s that our state is crippled with redundant, time-consuming and costly regulations and bureaucracy. D-REGG cuts the red tape and allows our economic innovators do what they do best – create jobs and opportunities for our communities (A.5044).
