An energy plan that works for you

New Yorkers are feeling the squeeze from skyrocketing energy prices, driving bills up 70%³ since 2019 and they're still climbing⁴. Albany's own experts admit that mandates¹ will lead to higher utility costs.² Your energy choices have been greatly limited, leaving our state grid and families in urgent need of relief. I am working in Albany every day to deliver the solutions New Yorkers deserve.

Here is how my plan can help lower costs:

- ✓ Restore your choice to use natural gas and other heating options (A.6796)
- ✓ Require a full cost-benefit analysis on new energy sources with regular updates to determine if it is worth continuing to pursue (A.6260)
- ✓ Require public utilities authorities to get approval from lawmakers before increasing or adding any rates or fees (A.2291)
- ✓ Put the brakes on Albany's unsustainable energy mandates that could drive up costs^{1,2}
- ✓ Create income-based rebate checks up to $400 for utility ratepayers (A.10394)
