A MESSAGE FROM Assembly Member Rebecca A. Seawright

Dear Neighbor,

Thank you to everyone who joined us on Sunday, October 8 for a Shred-a-thon where we had over 200 participants to shred their old documents with GrowNYC and Upper Green Side. On Tuesday, October 10, the MSK Center for Laboratory Medicine marked the opening of their new facility on East 64th Street with a ribbon cutting ceremony. Yesterday, October 12, our office hosted a community information session with the New York City Department of Design and Construction (DDC) on the East 81st Street Pedestrian Bridge Project. I gathered with neighbors and representatives from other elected officials offices to be briefed on the project. We inquired about technical delays and design changes which prolonged the project beyond the initial 18 month projection. Keeping up with the construction in our community, today I visited the site of the Waste Transfer Station at East 91st Street to inspect the project with DDC and Department of Sanitation officials.

We look forward to hosting an Excelsior Scholarship and College Affordability forum at Julia Richman Education Complex on October 24, a Rat Academy at Brearley School on November 2, a Community Board 8 Asthma forum featuring my asthma study bill which has passed both houses and a Crime Prevention Presentation with the 19th Precinct (details will be forthcoming). This weekend, I look forward to seeing you with your pet on parade at the Halloween Howl and Healthy Hound Fair at Carl Schurz Park on Sunday from 12 pm- 3 pm.

Stay in touch with my office about any issues that are important to you. As always, we are just a visit, call or email away.

Sincerely,

REBECCA A. SEAWRIGHT

Seawright Holds East 81st Street Pedestrian Bridge Community Information Session

On Thursday, October 12, Seawright and the New York City Department of Design and Construction (DDC) held a community information session for the residents of the Upper East Side who are anticipating the long-delayed reconstruction project to be completed in December. The reconstructed bridge will provide a link to and from the East River Esplanade. Initially, the project was supposed to be completed in 18 months but an unexpected need to retrofit the bridge's north abutment and design changes added and additional 13 months to the project.

"I am just as excited as you are to finally see the completion of this project. Living on East 81st Street, this was the backyard for my children growing up and we cannot wait to see the completion for all to enjoy," said Seawright.

Seawright Questions Construction Team and City Officials at the East 91st Street Waste Transfer Station Facility

Today, October 13, Seawright inspected the site of the Waste Transfer Station at East 91st Street. She questioned the construction team and City officials from the New York City Department of Design and Construction and the Department of Sanitation regarding concerns posed by the community in relation to the status of the East 92nd Street ramp and the air quality monitoring.

The New York City Department of Health committed to a baseline monitoring and a post-opening monitoring that will be submitted to the Waste Transfer Station Community Advisory Group.

92nd Street Greenmarket Shred-a-thon

On Sunday, October 8, Seawright sponsored a Shred-a-thon at the 92nd Street Greenmarket with Upper Greenside's Sarah Gallagher, GrowNYC, Council Member Kallos and Council Member Garodnick. Despite the rainy weather, the shred-a-thon was a huge success with over 200 local residents in attendance with their old documents to shred.

The Centennial of Women's Suffrage

A Message from Rebecca Seawright

The right to vote is a shining example to the world of what democracy means and why it's so important. Voting is one of the strongest, most direct ways we can effect change. It's our chance to influence, inspire, make our voices heard and hold our leaders accountable. But not too long ago, women were denied the right to vote. This year marks the 100th anniversary of women's suffrage in New York State – three years before the ratification of the 19th Amendment.

New York has long been a national leader in the advancement of women's equality. The Seneca Falls Convention of 1848 – the nation's first to address women's rights – was organized by leading suffragists Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott and set in motion a decades-long push toward women's suffrage. On Nov. 6, 1917, New York legalized women's suffrage.

It wasn't an easy journey, though. Women were considered far from equal, with many anti-suffrage arguments focused on a woman's supposed inability to think rationally, and some even declared that women didn't have time to vote or think about politics because they were too busy taking care of the home. But suffragists persevered nonetheless. They gave speeches in churches, convention halls, meeting houses and on street corners and circulated countless petitions. They also published newspapers, pamphlets and magazines to get their message out.

Now, as we celebrate the centennial of women's suffrage here in New York, we are not only reminded of what it took to get here, but also how far we still must go to achieve full women's equality. Today, safeguarding women's rights is more important than ever, and the Assembly Majority remains committed to doing just that. Not only do we have a federal administration that's threatening a woman's right to keep her reproductive health care decisions between her and her doctor, but, unbelievably, women still earn less than men for equal work.

This year, the Assembly Majority passed two critical pieces of legislation to strengthen and protect women's reproductive health rights. One measure affirms a woman's right to choose and the other requires insurers to continue covering FDA-approved contraceptives at no cost to the consumer (A.1748, A.1378). The Assembly Majority also passed workplace protections including the New York State Fair Pay Act to ensure pay equity among male and female workers and to ensure that jobs traditionally held by women are not undervalued (A.4696).

A century after women's suffrage was achieved in New York, our state remains a progressive leader on women's issues and equality, recognizing that each and every person deserves to be treated with respect and fairness no matter their race, sex, creed, nationality or sexual orientation. For the trailblazers that came before us, the activists that stand among us and the visionaries yet to come, may this anniversary serve as a spark for great strides forward in the march toward full women's equality.

New Yorkers can celebrate women's suffrage in a variety of ways, including attending workshops and galleries, visiting historic sites or reading more about our state's famed history. The New York State Women's Suffrage Commission, which was created to honor the fight for women's rights and pay tribute to pioneering suffragists and figures, has more information on its website at www.ny.gov/programs/new-york-state-womens-suffrage-commission.

Seawright Joins Boycott of the Hilton Hotel in Support of Workers

On Thursday, October 12, Assembly Member Seawright signed on to a letter to the Hilton Albany General Manager/ United Capital Corporation General Manager David Hayes to declare their support for the employees of the hotel in their struggle to win a fair contract. In addition to signing onto the letter, the members will refrain from staying at the Hilton Albany and attending any events that take place there, and will urge others to do the same until the workers win a fair contract. Seawright and the New York Hotel and Motel Trades Council, AFL-CIO are standing up for hotel workers everywhere by supporting a fair contract for Hilton Albany employees.

NYPD Halloween Safety Tips

Safety Tips for Children.

What Can I Do?

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) reports that Halloween is consistently one of the top three days of the year for pedestrian injuries and fatalities. In addition, 48% of all motor vehicle crash fatalities on Halloween night in 2012 (latest available data) involved a drunk driver. And according to the Center for Disease Control, children ages 5 to 14 are four times more likely to be killed by a motor vehicle accident on Halloween than on any other day of the year.

Sound scary?

It doesn't have to be. Parents should always emphasize safety precautions, and accompany children on their rounds after dark. Here are some guidelines to follow: motor vehicle accident on Halloween than on any other day of the year.

Keep costumes light and bright, so children are clearly visible to motorists and other pedestrians. Trim costumes, bags and even hats with reflective tape.

Costumes should be flame-resistant and fit properly. Be sure the child's vision is unobstructed by face masks, paint, or head gear like hats.

Costumes that are too long may cause kids to trip and fall. Trim or hem their costumes, as necessary. Children should wear sturdy, comfortable, slip-resistant shoes to avoid falls.

It is important that children walk on sidewalks and never cut across yards or driveways. They should also obey all traffic signals and remain in designated crosswalks when crossing the street.

It's also a good idea to carry a cell phone while trick-or-treating in case of an emergency.

For more information on child safety, or for other crime prevention and personal safety tips, please visit our website at: www.nypdcommunityaffairs.org.

A Message from The Chapin School

Please be advised that over the weekend of Saturday, October 21st and Sunday, October 22nd the balance of the tower crane will be delivered and assembled onsite. This work will require a complete street closure from 6:00 AM Saturday through 9:00 PM Sunday on East 84th Street between York and East End Avenues.

Street Closure and Work Hours: October 21st and October 22nd

- Street closure signs will be posted at the corners of East 84th Street at York and East End Avenues one week in advance of the closing. Additional NYPD No Parking signs will appear 48 hours prior to the street closure.
- Please note: in advance of this work commencing, all vehicles must be temporarily relocated from the street prior to 6AM Saturday, October 21st, or your vehicle will be towed. Towing will begin at 6:00 AM. If your vehicle is towed, tow locations will be available at the 19th Precinct by calling 212-452-0600 (prompt for switchboard operator is 0).
- Residential vehicle ingress or egress will not be permitted at any time until work is completed on Sunday evening. Kindly make arrangements not to schedule any vehicular/truck deliveries during this weekend. Emergency personnel will be able to access the block over the weekend.
- Preparatory work (fence and barricade removal) will begin on Friday October 20, but will not require any lane closings. Two hydraulic assist cranes will remain in place overnight Saturday/Sunday. Security guards will be present 24/7 from Friday morning through Sunday night to patrol the worksite.
- Work hours on Saturday and Sunday will be between 7:00 AM and 9:00 PM. Towing and other site mobilizations will begin at 6:00 AM.

Please note that information pertaining to crane logistics and operations can be found on Chapin's website - www.chapin.edu/buildingproject - and will be continually updated.

Please also note the crane delivery and installation dates could change due to inclement weather. In the event of a weather delay, we will send another electronic notification on the morning of October 21st noticing our neighbors that the work is postponed. (Our backup dates are Saturday, October 28th and Sunday, October 29th.)

Thank you again for your ongoing patience as our construction project enters this next phase.

Respectfully,
